Course content

The course aims to provide students with a deepened and thorough knowledge of investment analysis and costing within a strategic framework and from a decision-making viewpoint. Important objectives are to give students the basic tools necessary at this level to investigate business problems, to give them knowledge about investment planning and costing on an aggregate level as well as detailed knowledge about model building, to familiarize them with major and recent literature in their field, and to introduce important research techniques.

- Investment planning, theoretical methods and empirical observations from different contexts, i.e. public private companies as well as public sector enterprises.
- Application of investment calculation methods in complex economic systems.
- Costing and pricing of products and services in companies and public organizations.
- Strategic Cost Management
- Decision-making under information constraints
- The importance of learning for the development of cost and quality of goods and services.

Course design

The course includes lectures.

Assessment

The assessment of the course consists of two group assignments which are solved in groups with 2-3 students. The group assignments are graded and each group will receive detailed feedback on each assignment. The two group assignments constitute 40% of the credits that are the basis for the grades. At the end of the course there is an individual final examination in the form of a written test covering the additional 60% of the credits.

About one month after the final examination there is a re-examination.

Subcourses that are part of this course can be found in an appendix at the end of this document.
