• critically and systematically integrate knowledge, handle complexity and formulate assessments on development issues in Asia

Judgement and approach
• critically and independently formulate analytical arguments in speech and writing

Course content
The course provides interdisciplinary study of key theories of the socio-economic development in present-day Asia. The aim is to provide students with tools to theoretically analyse, discuss and debate contemporary development issues by critically examining the conceptualisation of development, from theories of modernity to neomarxist theories, from neoliberalism to post/alternative development, focusing especially on historical legacies and future challenges.

The course adopts a critical approach to development theories and their impact on the fields most in need of development, while highlighting contradictions and points of convergence between different theoretical traditions. The course also deals with the practice and actors of development, and the role of NGOs, on the basis of detailed case studies, which the students discuss and learn from. The course starts with a discussion of the group’s knowledge and needs and enables the students to focus on a specific issue within the many fields covered by the course.

Course design
The course consists of lectures, 1-3 seminars with oral presentations, of which one includes a written assignment, and film screenings.

Unless there are valid reasons to the contrary, compulsory participation is required in seminars.

Absence from a compulsory seminar can be compensated for by an assignment in accordance with instructions from the course director.
Assessment

The assessment is based on an individual seminar assignment (2.5 credits) and an individual take-home exam (5 credits).

The course includes opportunities for assessment at a first examination, a re-sit close to the first examination and a second re-sit for courses completed in the past year (catch-up exam).

The examiner, in consultation with Disability Support Services, may deviate from the regular form of examination in order to provide a permanently disabled student with a form of examination equivalent to that of a student without a disability.

Subcourses that are part of this course can be found in an appendix at the end of this document.

Grades

Marking scale: Fail, E, D, C, B, A.
The highest grade is A and the lowest passing grade is E. The grade for a non-passing result is Fail.

The grade for the entire course consists of a weighted average of all components assessed with differentiated pass grades (in which A=5, B=4, C=3, D=2 and E=1). For a grade of Pass (at least E) on the entire course, the student must have been awarded at least a Pass (E or, for components awarded Pass or Fail, Pass) on all assessed components and have participated in all compulsory components.

At the start of the course students are informed about the learning outcomes stated in the syllabus and about the grading scale and how it is applied in the course.

Entry requirements

To be admitted to the course, the student must have a degree of Bachelor in social sciences, economics or humanities disciplines oriented towards law or the social sciences, and at least 30 credits in Asian Studies or equivalent knowledge.

Oral and written proficiency in English corresponding to English 6/B from Swedish upper secondary school is a requirement. International qualifications will be assessed in accordance with national guidelines.

A general exemption from the requirement of proficiency in Swedish is applied.

Further information

1. The course is offered at the Department of History, Centre for East and South-East Asian Studies, Lund University.
3. The credits allocated for course content that in whole or in part is commensurate with another course can only be credited once for a degree. For further details see the current registration information and other relevant documentation.
