Course content

The course studies the development of society in terms of its economic, cultural, political and social aspects from Antiquity to the present day. The relationships between different types of state, organisation, ethnic group, class and gender are examined. Theories and methods in historical research are discussed and various types of sources are analysed. The course also discusses the ways in which history is used in society. The course is completed by the students writing a short scholarly essay. The in-depth thematic studies constitute a number of elective alternatives.

The course consists of the following sub-courses:

1. Scholarly Approaches in History, 6 credits,
2. Rival Civilisations, 9 credits,
3. Global Economy, Governments and Revolutions, 7.5 credits,
4. Industry and Empires, 7.5 credits,
