Course content

The course includes an introduction to linguistic and literary theories and methods and an elective module that enables students to achieve specialisation or breadth in their knowledge and skills. The elective module can be Classics of Danish Literature, Danish Children's and Young Adult Literature or another relevant course in the subject of Danish or Swedish/Scandinavian Languages. More information is available from the study advisor. The choice of module must be approved by the examiner.

Furthermore, the course includes a degree project that can specialise in linguistics or literature. The degree project is to be written in Danish.

The course consists of the following modules: ?

1. Elective Course: 1a. Classics of Danish Literature, 7.5 credits, 1b. Danish Children's and Young Adult Literature, 7.5 credits, 1c. Other relevant elective course 7.5 credits,
2. Theories and Methods of Linguistics and Literary Studies, 7.5 credits,
3. Degree Project, 15 credits.

Course design

The teaching consists of exercises, lectures and seminars. It is assumed that the student has access to a computer with internet connection. At the beginning of the course, information about the technical requirements is provided.

The course includes 6-8 compulsory assessed seminars. Attendance at these components is compulsory unless special circumstances apply. Students who have been unable to participate due to circumstances such as accidents or sudden illness will be offered the opportunity to compensate for or re-take compulsory components. This also applies to students who have been absent because of duties as an elected student representative.

Assessment

Elective courses: Classics of Danish Literature is assessed continuously through 3-5 compulsory assignments (to be presented orally) and through a take-home exam at the end of the course. Danish Children's and Young Adult Literature is assessed through a final take-home exam.

Theories and Methods of Linguistics and Literary Studies is assessed through 3-5 assignments to be presented orally and in writing during the course and through a final take-home exam.

The degree project is assessed on the basis of a paper that is discussed at a seminar. The student's defence of their own degree project and critical review of a fellow student's project is included in the assessment.

Passed degree projects at the Faculties of Humanities and Theology can be registered in the LUP Student Papers database if the student so wishes. The student is responsible for uploading the passed degree project as a PDF file in LUP student papers.

The examiner, in consultation with Disability Support Services, may deviate from the regular form of examination in order to provide a permanently disabled student with a form of examination equivalent to that of a student without a disability.

Subcourses that are part of this course can be found in an appendix at the end of this document.
