Course content

Module 1 provides students with more advanced language practice than the level 2 course in Russian, partly with regard to the ability to understand and translate Russian texts in different genres, and partly with regard to oral and written proficiency. Module 2 enables the students to develop specialised understanding of a number of theoretical perspectives and research issues of relevance to one of the elective research areas of fiction, documentary prose, cultural history or translation, thereby acquiring the tools required to execute the degree project: an independent project on a topic within one of the above-mentioned fields, selected in consultation with the supervisor. The project is to be presented in a paper of 25-35 pages and is to be discussed within the group with a previously appointed critical reviewer.

The course consists of the following modules:

1. Text Study, Oral and Written Proficiency, 7.5 credits,
2. Specialisation, 7.5 credits,
3. Degree Project, 15 credits.

Course design

The teaching consists of lectures, seminars (of which 6-9 are compulsory) and supervision. The student is entitled to 20 hours of supervision, referring to the number of hours for supervision of the independent project (including reading of and feedback on drafts and the final paper).

Assessment

The assessment of module 1 is based on an oral exam, a written invigilated exam, 3-5 compulsory seminars and 3-5 written assignments.

The assessment of module 2 is based on 2-3 compulsory seminars and 2-3 written assignments.

The assessment of module 3 is based on the student's presentation of an independent degree project for discussion at a seminar, and on the student's critical review of another degree project and active participation in the discussions of the compulsory seminars.

Passed degree projects at the Faculties of Humanities and Theology can be registered in the LUP Student Papers database if the student so wishes. The student is responsible for uploading the passed degree project as a PDF file in LUP student papers.

The examiner, in consultation with Disability Support Services, may deviate from the regular form of examination in order to provide a permanently disabled student with a form of examination equivalent to that of a student without a disability.
