Kursens innehåll

The main objective of the course is to help the students achieve knowledge about the strategic conditions for corporations and other types of organizational interplay, with their environment. Training of the participants' abilities in applying that type of knowledge is practical decision making is also an important objective of the course.

The course is introduced with an overview of the different schools of strategic management. Starting with the classical business policy theory, followed by the "industrial organization economics" and ending with the so called “resourced based view” on resources and competences as the key basis for competitiveness. From that the course discusses how changes in the marketplace like deregulation, globalisation, the development of new trade blocks, technological development, the environmental issues, the intellectual capital in organizations, out-sourcing and other issues poses new challenges to the strategic managers of today. To highlight the differences in demands on the leadership in different kinds of organisations strategic leadership in big corporations as well as in small new ventures and in public organisation with quite different types of objectives are discussed.
