All literature included in the programme courses is compulsory for this course. The students will select the appropriate literature covering methodological aspects, relevant theoretical aspects as well as data and information on the empirical area that is investigated.