A list of articles covering both classics and contemporary matters of concern within the field of international business. Examples include:

Students are also expected, on an individual basis, to find additional literature given the nature of the topics they are studying.