

Joint Faculties of Humanities and Theology

COSM51, Asian Studies: International Relations in East and South-East Asia: Issues and Cases, 7.5 credits

*Asienstudier: Internationella relationer i Öst- och Sydostasien: Frågor och fallstudier, 7,5 högskolepoäng
Second Cycle / Avancerad nivå*

Details of approval

The syllabus was approved by The pro-dean for First-Cycle Studies at the Faculties of Humanities and Theology on 2023-12-13 (U 2023/995). The syllabus comes into effect 2024-03-01 and is valid from the autumn semester 2024.

General information

The course is an elective component of the third semester of the Master of Science Programme (120 credits) in Asian Studies. It is also offered as a freestanding course.

Language of instruction: English

Main field of study Specialisation

Asian Studies A1N, Second cycle, has only first-cycle course/s as entry requirements

Learning outcomes

On completion of the course, the students shall be able to

Knowledge and understanding

- account for basic theories and concepts in the field of international relations
- account for the application of these theories and concepts to the study of international relations in East and South-East Asia
- account for broad changes in the dynamics of the international relations of East and South-East Asia
- account for specific case studies and issues in East and South-East Asia

Competence and skills

- discuss the development of international relations in East Asia since the end of the Cold War
- critically analyse prominent current issues and different accounts of the development of the region
- apply current theories to specific issues concerning international relations in East and South-East Asia
- use both primary and secondary sources as documentation for a well-supported argument about international relations in East and South-East Asia
- work systematically in an interdisciplinary context

Judgement and approach

- critically and independently pursue analytical arguments and critically assess key issues and cases in the international relations of East and South-East Asia

Course content

The course deals with the international relations in East and South-East Asia. It begins with a very brief introduction to basic theories about international relations and continues with a short historical overview focusing on the post-war period. The primary focus of the course is a series of in-depth case studies which define the region today. These include the territorial disputes in the East and South China Seas, the North Korean nuclear issue, Japan's turn away from pacifism, Cross-Straits relations (China and Taiwan), and the past, present, and future of US involvement and military bases in the region.

The course is based on the student's active participation, and will enable students to develop their ability to critically assess and develop theoretically-informed analyses of the dynamics of these cases.

Course design

The teaching consists of lectures, 1-3 seminars with oral reports, of which one includes a written assignment, and oral presentations and seminar discussions.

Unless there are valid reasons to the contrary, compulsory participation is required in seminars. Absence from a compulsory seminar can be compensated for by an assignment in accordance with instructions from the course director.

Assessment

The assessment is based on an individual seminar assignment (2.5 credits) and an individual take-home exam (5 credits).

The course includes opportunities for assessment at a first examination, a re-sit close to the first examination and a second re-sit for courses completed in the past year (catch-up exam).

The examiner, in consultation with Disability Support Services, may deviate from the regular form of examination in order to provide a permanently disabled student with a form of examination equivalent to that of a student without a disability.

Grades

Grading scale includes the grades: U=Fail, E=Sufficient, D=Satisfactory, C=Good, B=Very Good, A=Excellent

The highest grade is A and the lowest passing grade is E. The grade for a non-passing result is Fail.

The grade for the entire course consists of a weighted average of all components assessed with differentiated passgrades (in which A=5, B=4, C=3, D=2 and E=1). For a grade of Pass (at least E) on the entire course, the student must have been awarded at least a Pass (E or, for components awarded Pass or Fail, Pass) on all assessed components and have participated in all compulsory components.

At the start of the course students are informed about the learning outcomes stated in the syllabus and about the grading scale and how it is applied in the course.

Entry requirements

To be admitted to the course, the student must have a degree of Bachelor in social sciences or humanities.

Oral and written proficiency in English corresponding to English 6/B from Swedish upper secondary school is a requirement. International qualifications will be assessed in accordance with national guidelines.

A general exemption from the requirement of proficiency in Swedish is applied.

Further information

- The course is offered at the Department of History, Centre for East and South-East Asian Studies, Lund University.
- The credits allocated for course content that in whole or in part is commensurate with another course can only be credited once for a degree.
- For further details see the current registration information and other relevant documentation.