Course content

The course deals with the global historical development from the earliest civilisations up to and including the mid-14th century. It provides a general account of ancient history, Antiquity and the Middle Ages. Furthermore, it includes European and Nordic medieval history.

The topics highlighted include the development of empires- from Mesopotamia over Greece and Rome to the medieval kingdoms- and the expansion within agriculture and city foundation during the High Middle Ages. Political, cultural, social and economic circumstances are addressed.

Finally, the course includes analysis of source material from the period studied and historical source criticism.

Course design

The teaching consists of lectures and 2-4 group exercises. Active participation in the group exercises is compulsory.

Assessment

The assessment is based on 2-4 compulsory group exercises and an invigilated written exam or take-home exam. The group exercises amount to 1.5 credits and the written exam to 6 credits.

The examiner may deviate from the regular form of examination if the student has been granted an alternative form of examination by the Disability Support Services, and if it complies with the learning outcomes of the course.

Subcourses that are part of this course can be found in an appendix at the end of this document.
