Course content

In the course, the aims of children's literature research, methods and theories are studied. In the course, the opportunity to independently apply acquired theoretical-methodological knowledge in a written assignment is also given. In addition, a perspective-rich introduction is also given to the function of children's and youth literature in a wider children's culture context where film and theatre, for example, are important. The third module offers a research-related specialisation in a research question, a specific theme or important authorship.

The course consists of the following modules:

1. Theories and Methods of Children's Literature, 7.5 credits
2. Contemporary Children's Culture, 7.5 credits
3. Specialized Study in Children's Literature, 7.5 credits
4. Specialized Written Assignment, 7.5 credits.

Course design

Teaching consists of lectures, teaching sessions, exercises, workshops, seminars and supervision and project work or written assignments including a critical review seminar. Critical review seminar and 1 to 3 workshops are compulsory components. When necessary, compensation opportunities will be offered.

Assessment

The assessment is based on

Module 1: two workshops and a written examination

Module 2: one oral presentation and one written submission

Module 3: two written assignments

Module 4: specialized written assignment and critical review.

The examiner, in consultation with Disability Support Services, may deviate from the regular form of examination in order to provide a permanently disabled student with a form of examination equivalent to that of a student without a disability.

Grades

Grading scale includes the grades: Fail, Pass, Pass with distinction

For the grade of Pass on the whole course, students must have been awarded at least this grade on all modules.
