Course content

In this course, students will study the psychological and biological development during adolescence and its relation to the surrounding environment. In view of the changed patterns of interaction within and outside the family, the studies will also include the ability of the teenager to face challenges and stress factors, such as increased demands for independence and personal views.

Course design

The teaching consists of lectures, exercises and seminars. Some of the group exercises and seminars are compulsory. Unless there are valid reasons to the contrary, participation is compulsory. Students who have been unable to participate due to circumstances such as accidents or sudden illness will be offered the opportunity to compensate for or re-take compulsory components. This also applies to students who have been absent because of duties as an elected student representative.

Assessment

The assessment is based on written exams, exercises and seminars. Active participation and a written report is required for a Pass on the group exercises and seminars. Three opportunities for examination are offered in conjunction with the course: a first examination and two re-examinations. Two further re-examinations on the same course content are offered within a year of the end of the course. After this, further re-examination opportunities are offered but in accordance with the current course syllabus.

The examiner, in consultation with Disability Support Services, may deviate from the regular form of examination in order to provide a permanently disabled student with a form of examination equivalent to that of a student without a disability.

Grades

Grading scale includes the grades: Fail, Pass, Pass with distinction

Grading scale includes the grades: Fail, Pass, Pass with distinction The student's grade is assessed based on how well the student fulfils the learning outcomes of the course. Regarding the grade of Fail, the student has not fulfilled the learning outcomes of the course. For the grade of Pass, the student must fulfil the learning outcomes specified for the course. For the grade of Pass with Distinction, it is required, in addition, that the learning outcomes are fulfilled particularly well. The grades awarded for compulsory teaching components are Pass or Fail. For the grade of Pass, the student must show acceptable results. For the grade of Fail, the student has shown unacceptable results.

To receive the grade of Pass for the whole course, at least the grade of Pass is required in all modules and components. To receive the grade of Pass with Distinction for the whole course, the grade of Pass with Distinction is required in a majority of the total credits for the course based on the modules/components that can apply the grades Fail/Pass/Pass with Distinction. At the start of the course, students are informed about the learning outcomes stated in the syllabus and the grading scale, and how it is applied in the course
