General Information

Subject: Yiddish

The course is offered as a freestanding course. It can be included in a first or second cycle degree.

Language of instruction: Swedish and English

The course is normally taught in English, but can also be taught in Swedish, provided there is a special agreement between the lecturer/s and the students. Such an agreement requires that all teachers and students are proficient in Swedish. Non-compulsory material in Yiddish may be included.

Main field of studies

Depth of study relative to the degree requirements

G1N, First cycle, has only upper-secondary level entry requirements

Learning outcomes

On completion of the course, the students shall be able to

Knowledge and understanding

- account for the key role of Yiddish film for the creation of a modern Jewish culture in Central and Eastern Europe, the Soviet Union and the USA during the first half of the 20th century

- account for some central themes in Yiddish film of the golden age
- account for the most important methodological perspectives used in research on Yiddish film and its role in the creation of a modern Jewish culture

Competence and skills

- in speech and in writing, present different critical perspectives on the significance of Yiddish film for the development of a modern Jewish culture during the first half of the 20th century
- discuss in speech and writing theoretical and methodological issues in the field of Yiddish film and modern Jewish culture

Judgement and approach

- critically assess the role of Yiddish film in modern Jewish culture
- critically assess the literary, existential, moral, ideological, religious, commercial and scholarly aspects addressed in Yiddish film and their importance for the creation of a modern Jewish culture

Course content

Nine Yiddish films are screened during the course. The films selected are from the golden age of Yiddish film which took place in the first half of the 20th century and are used as a starting point for an introductory discussion of some important currents of modern Yiddish culture in Central and Eastern Europe, the USA and the Soviet Union. The main aim of the course is to demonstrate how the films shape important themes within modern Jewish culture: homelessness, emigration, dissolution of family traditions and secularisation. All the films screened have subtitles in English.

Course design

Teaching consists of lectures and 10-11 compulsory seminars. Non-attendance at a seminar can be compensated for according to the teacher's instructions.

Assessment

Assessment is based on 2-3 written assignments.

The examiner, in consultation with Disability Support Services, may deviate from the regular form of examination in order to provide a permanently disabled student with a form of examination equivalent to that of a student without a disability.

Subcourses that are part of this course can be found in an appendix at the end of this document.
