Kursens mål

The students will be trained as reflective practitioners in taking an active part in developing a sustainable society building on innovative thinking. This course will particularly enable the students to understand how competition policy is framing the conditions on the European and international market and make them able to convert regulatory constraints into opportunities. It aims at providing students with knowledge in European and international competition policy, including regulation on state aid and public procurement, especially in relation to problems caused by corruption. A passing grade on the course will be awarded to students who:

Kunskap och förståelse

- demonstrate knowledge and understanding regarding the notion of corruption and the competition policy tools for combating corruption;
- demonstrate knowledge and understanding in the fields of competition, state aid and public procurement law; and
- demonstrate methodological knowledge in competition, state aid and public procurement law;

Färdighet och förmåga

- demonstrate an ability to apply the law in the field of competition, state aid and public procurement law;
- demonstrate an ability to independently identify and analyse problems related to competition, state aid and public procurement law; and
- demonstrate an ability to work individually as well as in groups with students from different cultures in order to solve practical problems;

Värderingsförmåga och förhållningssätt

- demonstrate an ability to make assessments in the fields of competition, state aid and public procurement law, taking into account relevant scientific, social and ethical aspects, especially in relation to problems caused by corruption; and
- demonstrate an ability to identify their need of further knowledge and to take responsibility for developing their knowledge.

Kursens innehåll

Competition policy, including regulation on state aid and public procurement, is an essential tool to create fair competition and combat corruption in European and international trade. Highly competitive markets are expected to drive out corruption. Different forms of corruption can have a highly negative impact on competition conditions. It is not only a question of obvious bribery, which can involve money and valuable gifts or benefits. It may also be a matter of nepotism and conflicts of interest. Corruption may facilitate or enable a practice that is in breach of the rules on competition, state aid or procurement.

Kursens genomförande

Teaching is structured in lectures and seminars, where students' participation is compulsory.

Kursens examination

The course requires active participation from the students during lectures, seminars and group works. It also requires individual preparation (self-study). Examination is based on individual as well as group performance. The exam is an individual written exam. Group performances and other individual performances are case solving activities and can include written short assignment/s and/or oral presentation/s. In order to pass, students are required to meet the 80% active attendance requirement in the lectures and in the seminars. The number of occasions that a student can try to complete the examination for the approved result on the course is limited to five occasions.

Om så krävs för att en student med varaktig funktionsnedsättning ska ges ett likvärdigt examinationsalternativ jämfört med en student utan funktionsnedsättning, så kan examinator efter samråd med universitetets avdelning för pedagogiskt stöd fatta beslut om alternativ examinationsform för berörd student.
